Designated Driver Do’s

- Designated Driver gets the keys BEFORE the drinking begins
- Designated Driver refuses to drink ANY alcohol
- Treat your Designated Driver to dinner or non-alcoholic drinks
- Take turns being Designated Driver
- Offer to be the Designated Driver

Designated Driver Don’ts

- The Designated Driver is NOT the ‘least drunk of the bunch’
- Do NOT make the same person be the Designated Driver every time
- NOT A SIP!

Our mission is to teach and inspire the prevention of drunk driving.

90% of All Drunk Driving Happens After Drinking with Family, Friends, and Coworkers.

Don’t Let Drunk Driving Happen Right in Front of You!

Visit DrinkingAndDriving.Org for more information on how you can prevent drunk driving.

© Copyright DrinkingAndDriving.Org 2016
So you want to go out and have a good time. Drinks with your friends at the local bar, dinner and a movie or maybe a ball game... Sounds good!

The Designated Driver is a great way to be safe when you are out and having drinks. The Designated Driver swears off alcohol for the event and promises to get everyone home safely. Sounds simple, right? Sure, as long as the Designated Driver has a plan, along with the rest of the group ...

Yield your Keys to The Designated Driver

Make Your Plan and Stick to It

First and foremost, the Designated Driver cannot just be whoever is the least drunk! Many people are probably guilty of having “just one glass of wine or a beer” before getting behind the wheel. Depending on a number of factors, that one drink could be ‘one too many’! The Designated Driver is the person who WILL NOT drink alcohol. So make the decision on who will be the Designated Driver before going out, and then stick to the plan.

Keys Please

It is important that the Designated Driver gets possession of the car keys first, before going out. The Designated Driver gets the keys first to ensure he or she is the only one equipped to drive.

Treat Your Designated Driver Right

Take turns being the Designated Driver on different occasions, so it is not always one person who is responsible.

Check Yourself

Having a Designated Driver doesn’t mean you can go crazy and become so intoxicated you are unable to think straight. If you’re totally out of control there is a very good chance you will end up in some kind of trouble that your Designated Driver cannot protect you from!! So play it safe and give yourself a limit on how much you are drinking too.